UNIVERSAL STAINLESS REACHES LABOR AGREEMENT WITH BRIDGEVILLE EMPLOYEES

BRIDGEVILLE, PA, December 9, 2002 - Universal Stainless & Alloy Products, Inc. (Nasdaq:USAP) announced today that it has reached a six-year collective bargaining agreement with the employees at the Company's largest facility located in Bridgeville, PA who are represented by Local 3403 of the United Steelworkers of America (USWA). The employees had been working under a day-to-day extension of a prior agreement, which otherwise would have expired August 31, 2002. The Company's facilities in Dunkirk, NY and Titusville, PA are covered by separate collective bargaining agreements expiring in October 2007 and September 2005, respectively.

The new Bridgeville contract, which expires August 31, 2008, includes a 50-cent per hour per year wage increase and increased funding to the various employee benefit plans offered by the Company. In addition, the Company has agreed to contribute to the Steelworkers Pension Trust Plan (a multi-employer pension plan) as long as the Plan meets specified financial performance measures. These contributions are in lieu of the Company's current contributions to the existing 401(k) plan.

Mac McAninch, President and Chief Executive Officer, commented: "Management invested significant time and effort in evaluating and negotiating various alternatives to address the rising cost of healthcare and the future retirement benefits of our employees. We believe the new contract is beneficial to our employees and the six-year agreement is in the best interests of our shareholders. The new contract maintains the flexible work rule terms and profit sharing incentives contained in the prior contract."
